PREFACE

The Australian pound (A£) = $2.25; the shilling = $0.1125.

AMERICAN BOOK-PRICES CURRENT 1965 (Vol 71) begins its prefatory remarks with the above statement because this volume records not only the London and New York book auctions from September 1964 through August 1965, but also the sale of the Australiana Collection of F. G. Coles, held in Melbourne, Australia, July 28th, 29th, 30th, 1965. The sale was conducted by Leonard Joel, Pty, Ltd.; the catalogue of the sale was compiled by Mr. Gaston Renard, antiquarian bookseller in East Melbourne. The 1,287 lots in the sale realized A£ 44,022 ($99,050), and 1,148 items were eligible for the record in this series. At the time of the sale, Australian currency still had the pound and the shilling, etc. Happily, that country is now on the decimal system, and the dollar is the unit of its currency.

The 1964-1965 season was, like its predecessor, "prosperous"; it was, in addition, much larger in number of single lots sold. The evidence is adducible in this volume, which contains about 25,000 price entries (single lots from $5 upward), an increase of about 2,000 entries over the 1963-64 season. Seven auction houses — three in New York, three in London, and one in Melbourne — held 105 sales in 155 sessions, an increase of three sessions over the previous year.

More than 11,000 price entries of the total here reported derived from the 32 sales (67 sessions) held during the year by Sotheby & Company in London. These sales grossed the astonishing (to us) total of £ 1,250,253 ($3,500,708). This is an increase of £ 422,540 ($1,183,112) over the total realized from the 58 sessions held in 1963-64.

The 14 sales (16 sessions) held by Christie's in London provided close to 1,900 price entries. The sales brought a total of £ 258,358 ($723,246). This is an increase of £ 153,347 ($429,272) over the total realized from the 11 sessions held in 1963-64. Hodgson & Company in London again provided over 2,100 price entries from 10 sales (20 sessions), and the sales grossed £ 92,706 ($259,576), showing a drop of £ 19,152 ($53,626) from the high figure realized in the previous year.

Parke-Bernet Galleries in New York, in its first season as a subsidiary of Sotheby & Company, held only 16 sales (17 sessions) of books and manuscripts, one-quarter the number of sessions held by Sotheby & Company in London. These sales grossed $650,509. This is a large drop from the gross of $1,122,780 realized from 30 sessions held in 1963-64, but the average per session was slightly higher — $38,265 against an average of $37,426 per session for last year.

Swann Galleries in New York held 28 sales and provided more than 4,800 price entries. These sales grossed about $250,000 and exceeded the figure grossed for 24 sales last year. Mr. Charles Hamilton, autograph dealer in New York, continued his auction activities with four sales of autographs which reached a gross of $243,425. Mr. Hamilton's three sales in the 1963-64 season had grossed $73,648.

The highest price realized for a printed book sold by auction in the 1964-65 season was £30,000 ($84,000) for a second edition (the first illustrated) of Chaucer's "The Canterbury Tales", printed by William Caxton, circa 1484. The volume has 276 of the original 312 leaves (it lacks 35 printed leaves and one blank), and it was won by Mr. Hans P. Kraus, New York bookseller. This lot was one of two lots added to the sale of the books and manuscripts from Helmingham Hall Library, the property of Lord Tollemache. The second added lot in this sale was a set of the Shakespeare Four Folios, 1623-32-64-85. This was won for £23,000 ($64,400) by Mr. John F. Fleming, New York bookseller. The highest price of the season for a manuscript lot was for a 17th-century commonplace book with 12 pages in the autograph of the poet Robert Herrick, sold in the sale of the Phillipps manuscripts. It brought £34,000 ($95,200) and it was won by Mr. Lew D. Feldman (House of El Dieff, New York).

A goodly number of the sales had large collections devoted to single subjects, but, as usual, most of the sales contained books and manuscripts in all fields. A sampling of some of the items is here given under general subject headings:

AMERICANA. Five of the first six sales at Parke-Bernet Galleries contained Americana, printed and in manuscript. In the sale of Sep 30th, the first edition in book-form of Sam Houston's "Documents . . . to David G. Burnet, President of the Republic of Texas", New Orleans, 1836, brought $2,000; the first edition of John C. Reid's "Reid's Tramp . . . through Texas, etc.", Selma, 1858, $1,900. In the sale of Oct 27th, one of the rarest printings of the Declaration of Independence [n.p., n.d. - Salem: E. Russell (?), 1776] in broadside form, brought $3,300. In the sale of books and manuscripts of the Heritage Foundation, Nov 17th, the first issue of "Articles of Confederation and Perpetual Union between the States", Lancaster, 1777, brought $2,400; "The Federalist", N.Y., 1788, 2 vols, in original boards, repaired, $4,000; George Washington's copy of "Acts Passed at a Congress of the United States", N.Y., [1789], $27,000.

In Sotheby's sale of Nov 2d, a set of the first three books printed in Lima, Peru, "Doctrina Christiano y Catecismo", and two others, 1584-85, sewn together, brought £1,100 ($3,080). In the Sotheby sale of May 17th, Prince Maximilian's "Travels in the Interior of North America", London, 1843-44, text vol, and the vol of Bodmer's colored plates, brought £3,000 ($8,400); the second edition of Eliot's Indian Bible, Cambridge, Mass., 1685-1680, £1,150 ($3,220). In the same sale, a long run of "Jesuit Relations", 73 lots, (duplicates from the James Ford Bell Collection of the University of Minnesota), comprising various editions and variants of the letters from 1633 to 1672, brought prices ranging from £80 ($224) to £550 ($1,540), averaging £150 ($420) per lot. In Christie's sale of July 22d, a set of the Grande Edition of Humboldt and Bonpland's "Voyage aux Regions Equinoxiales du Nouveau Continent", Paris, 1807-34, 30 vols (plus Kunth's "Synopsis Plantarum . . ." 1822-26, 4 vols), brought £12,000 ($33,600).

Manuscript Americana was in the majority throughout the season at Parke-Bernet Galleries. A sampling is given below under Manuscripts.

AUSTRALIANA appeared in Christie's sale of July 14th and Sotheby's sales of March 29th and July 28th, and this subject made up the entire sale of the collection of F. G. Coles, held in Melbourne on July 28-30. The highest price in the Coles sale was A£3,250 ($7,920) for the archive comprising letters, documents, official correspondence, and some printed papers of Rear-Admiral Richard Thomas, Commander-in-Chief, Pacific, 1841-44. An advance copy of Captain Bligh's

"Voyage to the South Sea", 1792, brought A£500 ($1,125); George French Angas's "New Zealanders Illustrated", 1846-47, in the 10 original parts, with the plates colored, A£950 ($2,137). A copy in book form, colored, bound in half morocco, brought £150 ($420) in Sotheby's sale of March 29th, and another copy in half morocco £250 ($700) in Christie's sale of July 14th.

INCUNABULA, 16th-Century books, and early Continental printed books appeared in a sale at Sotheby's on Oct 19-20. In the sale of Dec 15-17, Sotheby's sold a fine collection of 65 lots of incunabula and post-incunabula, mainly in contemporary bindings; the Lactantius "Opera", Venice, 1497, in 'an altogether exceptional Gothic binding', brought £1,300 ($3,640). In the sale of May 24th, a Bible, German, printed by Koberger at Nuremberg, 1483, brought £1,100 ($3,080). The third sale of the season at Parke-Bernet, Nov 10-11, comprised 544 lots from the library of Mr. Arne Pettersen, made up of Reformation literature in general, and Martin Luther in particular, with printed devotional works, the Bible in vernaculars, etc. The first dated edition of Flavius Josephus "De Antiquitate Judaica, De Bello Judaica", Augsburg, 1470, with 21 illuminated initials, brought $5,250. The printed works under Luther make a truly formidable array: 14 columns, (7 pages) in this volume. The highest price in this sale was $11,000, for a 4-page Ms fragment by Luther; two autograph letters by him fetched $6,000 and $6,500. The sale grossed $142,530.

Sotheby's sale of Feb 15-16 dispersed the Westbury Collection, described in one of our favorite papers as "probably, almost certainly, the most substantial assemblage of books on cookery, gastronomy and the table ever to be sold by auction". The 507 lots totalled £17,333 ($48,532). Three of the incunabula in the sale brought good prices: the first dated (second printed) edition of the first printed book on gastronomy, Bartholomaeus Platina's "De Honesta Voluptate", Venice, 1475, brought £800 ($2,240); the third edition, printed at Cividale, 1480, brought £480 ($1,344); and Apicius Coelius, "De Re Coquinaria", Venice: Bernardinus Venetus . . . [circa 1500], brought £400 ($1,120). The English books in the sale fetched high prices throughout.

An incunabulum, Chaucer's "The Canterbury Tales", Westminster: Caxton, [circa 1484], brought the highest price for a printed book during the season: £30,000 ($84,000).

BINDINGS. Printed books and fine bindings from the celebrated collection of Major J. R. Abbey were sold at Sotheby's on June 21-23. The 694 lots brought a total of £157,172 ($440,081). The star lot was the first edition in Greek of Aristotle's works, printed by Aldus Manutius, Venice, 1495-98, 5 vols in 6 vols, bound by Jean Grolier's last binder. It brought £7,600 ($21,280). Moliere's "Oeuvres", Paris, 1734, 6 vols, in contemporary blue morocco, (the Lamoignon copy), brought £7,000 ($19,600). Many lots of "bindings" were sold in mixed sales throughout the year, and users of this work will see the phrase "Sold as a bdg" in the description of a great number of items, although we have not used it in every instance where mentioned in the sale catalogues.

ENGLISH LITERATURE and First Editions from the 15th to the 20th centuries were offered in more than a dozen sales. As mentioned above, Chaucer's "The Canterbury Tales", second edition, printed by Caxton in 1484, brought £30,000 ($84,000). The only known copy of Nicholas Breton's "Discourse in Commendation of Maister Fraunces Drake", 1581 (8 leaves), brought £6,000 ($16,800). The first edition of Spenser's "The Faerie Queene", 1590-96, 2 vols, in modern morocco, brought $2,700. The four Shakespeare folios of the 17th century, sold as one lot, brought £23,000 ($64,400). The first edition of Milton's

"Paradise Lost", 1667, with the first title-page, bound in modern morocco, brought $2,700.

'Wing' books and pamphlets appeared as they had in the past few years, in large numbers and at large prices; 18th century English literature held its own. 19th and 20th century first editions appeared as usual, except that Thackeray, Trollope, and Stevenson offerings were somewhat sparse. A copy of the second edition (1st English) of Shelley's "Adonais", Cambridge, 1829, in original wrappers, brought $525. The Charles Dickens entries in this volume occupy six columns. A copy of the first edition of Mary Elizabeth Braddon's novel, "Lady Audley's Secret", 1862, 3 vols, in original cloth, brought £800 ($2,240); a copy of the first edition of Lewis Carroll's "Alice's Adventures in Wonderland", 1865, in original cloth, with some binding defects, brought £4,200 ($11,760). Other 19th century authors are in evidence in small numbers. 20th century first editions, from Rupert Brooke through William Butler Yeats, held their own and better. Two schooldays productions of Rupert Brooke brought high prices: "The Pyramids", 1904, £380 ($1,064); "The Bastille", 1905, £270 ($756). James Joyce's "The Holy Office", a rare broadside, printed at Pola in 1904 or 1905, brought £240 ($672); the signed issue of the first edition of "Ulysses", Paris, 1922, one of 100 copies on Dutch paper, in original wrappers, £320 ($896). The Hemingway and the Faulkner offerings subsided during this season, but the items that appeared held up in price.

First editions of the writings of two former heads of state in the 20th century are much in evidence. The entries under Sir Winston Spencer Churchill take up five columns in this book: his "The Story of the Malakand Field Force", 1898, first issue, brought £180 ($504), £220 ($616), and £230 ($644); his "Marlborough", 1933-38, the signed issue, limited to 155 sets, 4 vols, original morocco, brought £200 ($560) and £260 ($728). Our entries under John Fitzgerald Kennedy are a little less than two columns. "As We Remember Joe", privately printed in 1945 in an edition of 500 copies, brought £620 ($1,736) in Sotheby's sale of Nov 2d; $750 in Hamilton's sale #6 on Jan 14th, and $550 in Hamilton's sale #7 on March 25th. Three inscribed copies of the book appeared, the first in Hamilton's sale #5 on Oct 8th, $2,400; the second at Parke-Bernet on Oct 13th, $2,600; and the third at Parke-Bernet on March 9th, $1,100.

PRESS BOOKS. Long runs of the publications of Ashendene, Doves, Golden Cockerel, Gregynog, Kelmscott, and Nonesuch presses were provided in several of this season's sales. Other familiar presses are also represented. Sotheby's sale of Oct 5th offered a complete set of the Kelmscott Press books, on paper, 1891-98, in 59 lots. In this sale, the Chaucer, 1896, brought £520 ($1,456). Another copy was sold in Sotheby's sale of March 31st for £450 ($1,100). In Sotheby's sale of Feb 1st, the Doves Press printings of Milton's "Paradise Lost", and, "Paradise Regain'd", 1902-1905, 2 vols, each one of 3 copies (of 25 printed on vellum) with initials and first lines in gold, in morocco by the Doves Bindery, brought £700 ($1,960).

Swann Galleries in New York entered the ranks of the "complete set" with sale #658 of Nov 12th, made up entirely of a complete run of Limited Editions Club publications, 1929-1962, catalogued in 335 lots. The Aristophanes "Lysistrata", 1934, illustrated by Picasso, brought $325; Joyce's "Ulysses", 1935, illustrated by Matisse, one of 250 of an edition of 1500 signed by both Joyce and Matisse, brought $425. Another copy of this issue was sold at Parke-Bernet Galleries in the sale of Feb 9th for $400. The issue of 1250 copies, signed by Matisse only, brought $150, $225, $250, $300, and £80 ($224), in various sales throughout the season. A set of 6 proofs of the original etchings for the work, limited to 150 sets, each plate signed by Matisse, brought $1,250 at Parke-Bernet's sale of Feb 9th.

NATURAL HISTORY. Books of natural history, comprising general texts and color plate books of Botany, Ornithology, Flowers and Fruits, appeared in more than a dozen sales. The largest run was in Sotheby's sale, March 29th through April 1st, the collection of the late J. W. Harrison. The four sessions brought £138,315 ($387,282). A fine small collection, the property of the Earl of Harewood, was sold at Christie's on July 1st. The 90 lots in this sale brought £42,630 ($119,364). A general collection, the library of Ritchie Seath, was sold at Hodgson's on March 25th, and the sale grossed £17,979 ($50,341).

We can give here only a few of the many authors and titles sold. The names are familiar: Berlese, Brookshaw, Catesby, Curtis, Elliot, Gould, Lawrance, Levaillant, Lewin, Redoute, Sharpe, Tussac . . . and on and on. Many of the works by the authors mentioned were in the four-figure class — in pounds, not dollars. Gould's "Birds of Australia", 1840-69, 8 vols, including the supplement, £4,000 ($11,200), and another set £4,400 ($12,320); "Birds of Asia", 1850-73, 7 vols, £4,200 ($11,760). A half dozen or more other works of Gould brought four figures. Three sets of Curtis's "Botanical Magazine", 1787-1963, each bound in more than 150 vols, brought £3,300 ($9,240), £3,600 ($10,080), and £4,400 ($12,320). A set of Redoute's "Les Liliacees", Paris, 1802-16, 8 vols, all plates in first state, brought £6,200 ($17,360); and a set of "Les Roses", Paris, 1817-24, 3 vols, on ordinary paper, brought £4,200 ($11,760). A large paper set of "Les Roses", bearing Redoute's Ms authentication, brought £7,200 ($20,160). We cannot refrain from mentioning that this particular set on large paper had at one time been in the library of Ellen Willmott, and in the sale of her books at Sotheby's on 2 Apr 1935 it had fetched the then handsome price of £195, the equivalent in exchange at that time being $940.

SCIENCE. Among the numerous scientific classics sold during the year there were many books in the fields of medicine and anatomy. The first of several sales to come of duplicates from the Boston Medical Library was held at Parke-Bernet on April 27th. In this sale, Richard Bright's "Reports of Medical Cases", 1827-31, 2 vols in 3 vols, brought $3,200; James Parkinson's "An Essay on the Shaking Palsy", 1817, $3,500; and Charles Estienne's "De Dissectione partium Corporis Humani", Paris, 1545, $1,500. Medical books sold in London included a copy of the first English medical book, "The Governall of Helth", in Wynkyn de Worde's printing of circa 1530, lacking two of the twelve leaves, £750 ($2,100). Gasparo Aselli's "De Lactibus", Milan, 1627, brought £1,450 ($4,060); Malpighi's "De Viscerum . . . Anatomica", Bologna, 1666, £900 ($2,520). In Sotheby's sale of March 1st an unrestored copy of Vesalius's "De Humani Corporis Fabrica libri septem", Basel, 1543, brought £1,700 ($4,760), and the much rarer epitome, printed in the same year, "De Humani Corporis Fabrica librorum Epitome", brought £3,400 ($9,520). An imperfect copy of the Epitome, lacking one leaf and with some extensive repairs, sold in Parke-Bernet's sale of May 18th, brought $1,500. The first printing of the Epitome in England, Thomas Geminus's "Compendiosa Totius Anatomiae Delineatio", London, 1545, was sold in Sotheby's sale of Dec 14th for £1,800 ($5,040).

A collection of books illustrating the origins and progress of science, the library of Professor E. N. da C. Andrade, was sold at Sotheby's on July 12th and 13th. The 573 lots totalled £69,581 ($194,826). The center of Professor Andrade's collection was the 17th century, and it was built around the works of three English scientists: Sir Isaac Newton, Robert Hooke, and Robert Boyle.

The highest price in the Andrade sale was reached by a copy of the first edition of Robert Boyle's "The Sceptical Chymist", 1661, in calf, antique style, £4,800 ($13,440). Both issues of the first edition of Sir Isaac Newton's "Philosophiae Naturalis Principia Mathematica", 1687, were in the sale: the two-line imprint, in contemporary calf, rebacked, brought £2,400 ($6,720); the three-line imprint, in contemporary Dutch vellum, £2,200 ($6,160). A presentation copy inscribed by Robert Hooke, of the first edition of his "Micrographia . . . Descriptions of Minute Bodies made by Magnifying Glasses", 1665, in contemporary calf, rebacked, brought £2,600 ($7,280). [An uninscribed copy, in contemporary calf, rebacked, was sold in Sotheby's sale of December 14th for £230 ($644).]

Other items in the Andrade sale include the first edition in English of Euclid's "The Elements of Geometry", 1570, which brought £350 ($980), and another copy, £380 ($1,064); Galilei's "Dialogo . . .", Florence, 1632, £380 ($1,064); and his "Discorsi . . .", Leiden, 1638, £900 ($2,520). The first edition of William Gilbert's "De Magnete . . .", London, 1600, brought £1,500 ($4,200); Hevelius's "Machinae Coelestis, Pars Prior", Danzig, 1673, £1,200 ($3,360); Hooke's "Philosophical Collections", 1679-82, seven parts in one vol, £850 ($2,380); Hooke's "Lectiones Cutlerianae", 1679, £950 ($2,660); Sir Isaac Newton's "Opticks", 1704, on thick paper, £1,300 ($3,640); and Thomas Salusbury's "Mathematical Collections and Translations, the Second Tome", 1665, £3,000 ($8,400).

MANUSCRIPTS, Autograph Letters, Documents, &c. Section I of Part II of this volume records early illuminated manuscripts, early manuscript texts of historical importance, etc. In this group the highest price was reached by the Book of Hours of Charles the Bold, Duke of Burgundy (1433-77), and his wife, Margaret of York. The text and miniatures were executed during the years between 1420 and 1468, and the miniatures, by Flemish painters, were illuminated under the direction of Willem Vrelant of Bruges. The work was sold in Christie's sale of May 26th and it fetched £28,000 ($76,400).

At Sotheby's an English XIIth century Ms of St. Ambrose brought £1,600 ($4,480); an English XIIth century "Sermones Catholicorum", £1,300 ($3,640); an English XIVth century Ms of Clement of Lanthony, £1,700 ($4,760). A Spanish XVth century Ms "Cancionero", containing poems of the leading poets of the age, brought £2,800 ($7,640).

Literary Manuscripts, Autograph Letters, Documents, etc., (Section II of Part II of this volume), made up large parts of many of the sales of the season. Sotheby's commenced the disposition of the large residue of the manuscript collections of Sir Thomas Phillipps, and the auctioneers envisage a series of sales lasting perhaps a decade, involving each year one sale of medieval manuscripts and one or two sales of literary and historical manuscripts. The first of the latter class was held on June 28th and 29th, and the 302 lots fetched £84,410 ($236,348). Of this large sum, £34,000 ($95,200) was accounted for by Robert Herrick's Common-place Book [1612-24], containing 12 pages in his own hand, and numerous corrections by him of various scribal texts which make up the volume. It was carried off by the House of El Dieff, New York.

In Sotheby's sale of Dec 1st, a series of 14 A Ls s, 1874-99, by the parents of Rudyard Kipling to his headmaster at Westward Ho! brought £4,500 ($11,000). This £4,500 price was equaled in Christie's sale of December 18th for the autograph manuscript by Conan Doyle of a Sherlock Holmes story, "The Adventure of the Greek Interpreter" (1893), 34 leaves, signed. A great many of the sales throughout the season, both in London and New York, offered letters and manuscripts of literary men and women, and long runs of autographic material of musicians and composers.

The four autograph sales of Mr. Charles Hamilton in New York added much to the year's auction activities in autographs. The few printed books in these sales are recorded in Part I of this volume. In Sale #5 (Hamilton's first sale of the season), Oct 8th, an ALs by George Washington, 31 Aug 1788, brought $2,600; an undated ALs by Beethoven, $2,000. The highest price in Sale #6 was $2,700, for a boyhood letter by John F. Kennedy, written at Choate School (circa 1932) to a friend. In Sale #7, the last will and testament of Benedict Arnold, written Nov 1781, on the eve of his departure for England, brought $2,800. In Sale #8 an archive of fifty unpublished letters by E. E. Cummings, 1940-62, all to Howard Nelson, brought $2,600; a collection of 27 unpublished letters of Robert Frost, 1923-42 (with 21 letters by Mrs. Robert Frost), all to J. J. Lankes, Frost's illustrator, brought $11,500.

Three of Parke-Bernet's sales of the season were devoted wholly to autographs, mainly Americana. A large sale in this group was the dispersal on Oct 13th of the collection of Presidential Autographs and Portraits formed by Lindley and Charles Eberstadt. The 248 lots realized $77,765. A letter by Andrew Jackson, 25 May 1842, to General Sam Houston, about the Santa Fe Expedition, and giving advice on the Texan conquest of Mexico, brought $3,000; a holograph transcript by Abraham Lincoln of a mildly ribald story in "Spoonerism" form, 17 lines, unsigned, $3,000; and a document signed by William Henry Harrison, 19 March 1841, during his 30-day term as President, $2,400. In the sale of Sep 22d, an archive of Zachary Taylor, comprising autograph letters, letters signed, documents, etc., divided into three lots, 1811-42, 1821-45, and 1846-49, totalling 320 pieces, realized $5,250 per lot — $15,750 for the whole. In the sale of property of the Heritage Foundation, Deerfield, Nov 17th, an autograph letter by George Washington, 14 Nov 1778, eight pages, to Henry Laurens, giving reasons against an invasion of Canada by French and American forces, brought $15,000; an autograph letter by Thomas Jefferson, 28 Feb 1800, to George Wythe, on the subject of parliamentary procedure, brought $3,200. There were many other high-priced pieces in this small but distinguished sale of Revolutionary period Americana. In the sale of Dec 8th, the letters of condolence, and other pieces, sent by Lieutenant John F. Kennedy to the widow of Jack Kirksey who was lost in the attack by a Japanese destroyer on PT 109, commanded by Lt. Kennedy (1 Aug 1943), brought $9,500.

The prices during the season maintained a fairly even course for like copies of duplicate titles, but there were a few departures from the line. One of the crassest is to be found in the prices realized for the second edition of Robert Boyle's "New Experiments . . . Touching the Spring of the Air . . .", 1662. In Sotheby's sale of Dec 14th a copy in contemporary calf, binding worn, brought £ 75 ($210); in Sotheby's sale of July 12th (Andrade), a copy in contemporary calf, rebacked, brought £ 800 ($2,240). We cannot, from our small stock, provide an explanation.

The great rise in book-prices during the past decade has now come to the notice of the general, and more than murmurings about the good investment possibilities in books can be heard in various places where books are seldom thought about. "Fortune" magazine, (the monthly, New York) has an article scheduled for its October 1966 number about the good investment possibilities in books, and there must be others in the mill elsewhere. We cannot dissuade "Fortune" at this late date, but we would like to dissuade others who are planning to write on this distasteful subject. Certainly none of the "popular" writers know that the subject was covered fully, for all time, by Mr. Nicolas Barker's masterly essay, "The Aesthetic Investor's Guide to Current Literary Values, an Essay in Bibliometry", (THE BOOK COLLECTOR, Vol IX, No. 4, Winter 1960), and after Mr. Barker's study there is nothing further to be said.

We have always recommended Mr. Barker's essay, and do so now, with the advice that the mathematical problems printed therein are not for solving; they are for to be viewed and enjoyed in the viewing, because they are very good-looking.

For the professional who seeks illumination about the present costs and about the rise in prices of rare books, there is the scholarly and knowledgeable essay by Dr. Gordon N. Ray, "The Changing World of Rare Books", (THE PAPERS OF THE BIBLIOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY OF AMERICA, Vol LIX, 2d Quarter, 1965).

NOTES ON THE ARRANGEMENT OF THIS WORK

The entries reported are listed alphabetically by author, in every case possible. Some items are entered by title, when author is not to be found in standard reference works. Subject entries — Costume, States, Trials, etc. — are cross-indexed. Press Books and Club Publications (with some minor exceptions) are under the name of the issuing Press or Club, and are arranged by author under the Press or Club heading.

The main headings — author, or title, or subject — are in boldface capitals, and the entries beneath follow in alphabetical order: Title; Place of Publication (and on some items, Publisher or Printer); Date of Publication. Following the date are: Edition designation; Size; Binding; Description (limit notices, inscriptions, defects, etc.); and last, the Code letter or letters of the auction house where sold; the date, or the number of the sale; the catalog number of the lot; price realized. After some prices, the name of the buyer appears within brackets.

The main entries are preceded by a one-em dash. Additional sales of the same title are headed "Anr copy", and subsequent editions of the same work are headed "Anr Ed", followed by place of printing and date.

All American prices are recorded on the full dollar. English sales prices are recorded in pounds and shillings. The pound Sterling = $2.80; the shilling = $0.14. The Australian pound = $2.25; the Australian shilling = $0.1125.

Autographs & Manuscripts are in a separate alphabet, forming Part II of ABPC. This part is divided into two sections: Section I comprises illuminated manuscripts and early manuscripts of texts of historical importance; Section II comprises literary manuscripts, typescripts, autograph letters, documents, etc.

Broadsides are listed in Part III, and Maps in Part IV.

Each entry is keyed to the auction house where sold, by initial or initials of the house. The general auction houses are listed in the key by initial followed by date of sale; the houses devoted to the sale of literary properties only are listed by initials followed by the sale number. All of the contributing houses are alphabetically listed, with sales and dates, etc., in the preliminary text.
